BULGER CAUGHT, BOUND FOR HUB

Death for Whitey?

Officials said Thursday that if James "Whitey" Bulger is convicted he could face the death penalty, but not in Massachusetts.

Speaking about Wednesday night's arrest of the fugitive mobster, U.S. Attorney for the District of Massachusetts Carmen Ortiz said the federal charges Bulger will face in this state do not carry the death penalty as an option.

"However, I believe he is facing the death penalty in the other two [murder] cases that are outside of this jurisdiction," in Oklahoma and Florida, Ortiz said. METRO

James "Whitey" Bulger, one of the country's most wanted men, is behind bars and will be back in Boston soon to face charges.

Bulger, 81, and his 60-year-old girlfriend agreed to be held without bail during their arraignment before a federal judge in Los Angeles on Thursday. The pair was arrested late Wednesday night at their Santa Monica apartment.

The arrest of the accused murderer and South Boston mob boss is a redeeming moment for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which saw its name tarnished after former agent John Connolly was convicted of various charges including tipping off Bulger just before he was indicted.

"Although there are those who doubted our resolve, it never wavered," said Richard DesLauriers, the FBI special agent in charge of the Boston Division.

With Osama Bin Laden and James "Whitey" Bulger off the FBI's 10 Most Wanted list, guys like Victor Manuel Gerena are in the hot seat.

- Gerena is wanted for the armed robbery of about $7 million from a security company in Connecticut in 1983.
- He allegedly took two security employees hostage at gunpoint and then handcuffed, bound and injected them with an unknown substance to disable them.
- With Bulger captured, Gerena is the man on the Most Wanted list with the highest reward for his arrest: $1 million

For those in the Southie neighborhood, the news of Bulger's capture after 16 years on the run was stunning.

"Isn't it amazing?," said Ottavio LoGrasso, standing outside his Southie barber shop.

However, others were still hesitant to speak about the man who is accused of leading a mob from their neighborhood.

"Don't let him talk," said one man when a reporter stepped in to a South Boston bar.

The arrest came just days after the FBI launched a new advertising campaign, which focused on girlfriend Catherine Greig, to generate tips.

DesLauriers said a tip came in to the Los Angeles FBI office Tuesday night and relayed to Boston where agents deemed it credible. Agents in Los Angeles set up surveillance the next day and by 6 p.m. in California, Bulger and Greig were under arrest.

FBI agents used a "standard ruse" to get Bulger out of the apartment, but they did not elaborate.

He was found with nearly two dozen guns and a "substantial" amount of cash. The Globe reported the cash totaled in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Bulger tale could go 'Wood

With mob boss James "Whitey" Bulger now in FBI custody, film industry experts are saying Hollywood is sure to come calling.

Michael Moody, an associate producer in Los Angeles, said movie bigwigs would most likely jump on the Bulger bandwagon and start preparing to tell his story on the big screen.

Moody said it is likely Boston could see an influx in movie projects stemming from the various story lines soon to unfold.

"Producers at big studios or smaller productions will start tracing down the rights to the story," said Moody, who lives blocks from where Bulger was arrested in Santa Monica, Calif.

▶ Bulger spent time in Somerville's Winter Hill neighborhood.

"They will start doing the research, but I think someone is probably on it already."

Moody Street Pictures' chief marketing officer, Timothy Egan, said there will be a lot of interest immediately.

"There is an appetite for it," he said. "Any time there is a major story with a cultural impact, like a nationally known criminal on the lam, it adds excitement for the story."

Egan said Massachusetts is successful as a film making community through the film tax credits available.

Whitey Bulger: 16 years hiding out in plain sight

Local experts say a beard makes good disguise Harvard organized crime professor says it takes a clever criminal to be so evasive for so long

His old age and self-discipline may have helped James "Whitey" Bulger dodge the FBI for 16 years, experts said Thursday, hours after agents captured the Southie mob boss in California.

"He's an old man. [He is] not a flamboyant guy in any way. He knew how to stay low," said Dick Lehr, a BU journalism professor and former Globe reporter who co-authored a book about Bulger.

Lehr said was stunned by the capture, but didn't doubt it could happen.

"It had been so long, and suddenly, they got him. It's long overdue," Lehr said.

FBI HANDOUT/GETTY IMAGES

Harvard Law Professor Philip Heymann, who teaches organized crime, said it takes a clever criminal to be so evasive, but it's as easy as growing a beard.

"He is a smart guy, he is obviously very smart," said Heymann. "It takes a certain amount of talent to maintain and keep yourself hidden."

In a photo released yesterday, Bulger had a thick, white beard that stretched across his face and a bald head.

Heymann said he "wasn't surprised" that the infamous mob boss was able to walk the streets of a West Coast neighborhood.

"A beard or a mustache helps a lot. He is an ordinary looking guy — he looked like anybody else," said Heymann.

"It's not strange that he could walk down the streets of any city except for Boston and not be recognized."

Hacker pleads guilty to creating AT&T-iPad breach

A computer hacker pleaded guilty to helping write malicious code that let him breach AT&T Inc. servers and steal personal data belonging to 120,000 Apple Inc. iPad subscribers, U.S. prosecutors said.

Daniel Spitler, 26, admitted to one count of conspiracy to gain unauthorized access to computers and one count of identity theft at a Thursday hearing before U.S. District Judge Susan Wigenton in Newark, N.J., federal court.

Spitler could face a 12- to 18-month prison term under federal sentencing guidelines, which a judge need not follow. The San Francisco resident is free on bail, and his sentencing is scheduled for Sept. 28.

120K
Number of Apple Inc. iPad subscribers affected by the hack according to U.S. prosecutors

Prosecutors in January accused Spitler and co-defendant Andrew Auernheimer, 25, of using an "account slurper" to conduct a "brute force" attack over five days last June to extract data about iPad users who used the Internet through AT&T's network.

According to prosecutors, Spitler admitted to being a member of Goatse Security, a group of "self-professed Internet 'trolls'" who try to disrupt online content and services.

They said Auernheimer was also affiliated with Goatse, and that creators of the account slurper leaked stolen e-mail addresses and other data to the website Gawker.

Possible victims of the hacking included public figures such as New York City Mayor Michael Bloomberg, anchor Diane Sawyer of Walt Disney Co.'s ABC News, movie mogul Harvey Weinstein, and Chicago Mayor Rahm Emanuel, prosecutors said. REUTERS

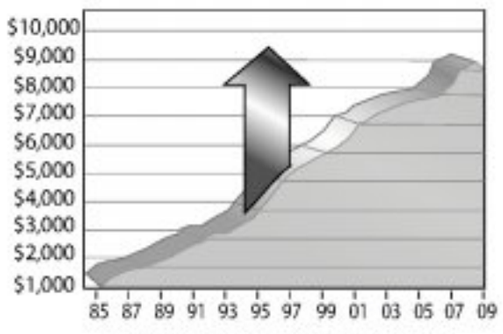
Credit Card Debt?

ADVERTORIAL

Solutions that can help you get out of debt.

Tom Hill
CGA STAFF WRITER

U.S. CREDIT CARD DEBT PER HOUSEHOLD ($)



(Data Source: U.S. Federal Reserve)

Every three minutes another person falls behind on credit card debt. It's no wonder, since every major credit card company has nearly doubled the minimum monthly payment on consumers' bills. Federal Regulators forced the change because of their concern about the growing mountain of consumer debt, which stands at $2.17 trillion. Many consumers can only pay the minimum payment, which can take up to 30 years to pay off. Now, relief is in sight for millions of Americans.

CreditGUARD of America, a non-profit licensed debt management service provider, is making a new program available to lower debt payments and become free of all credit card debt in only three to five years. Consumers need only $2,000 or more in total credit card debt and falling behind on any account, to cut their payment by 35% to 50%, and reduce or eliminate interest charges altogether.

Over 200,000 families, located throughout the U.S. have regained financial independence with CreditGUARD's licensed, bonded and insured service. CreditGUARD of America has received high marks in consumer surveys showing high consumer satisfaction and confidence. The CreditGUARD debt management program can lower your monthly payments by hundreds and save you thousands!

One such case is Sandra L. who proclaimed "CreditGUARD cut my monthly payment by $656 and saved me over $29,206.53 in interest. They saved my way of life and gave me back my piece of mind! Now I can see myself on my way to becoming debt free." or Jeffery C. who said "CreditGUARD of America helped me consolidate 3 of my credit cards into one affordable payment. They are now saving me nearly $200 a month. Now I will be debt free in 2 years or less"

Harry Potter e-books on the way, but no sequel

The seven Harry Potter novels will be available as ebooks in October, author J.K. Rowling said on Thursday at the launch of a new interactive online website that will allow readers to navigate through the wizard stories.

Rowling gave her clearest indication yet that she would not write an eighth Harry Potter story to follow the final installment published in 2007 by Bloomsbury in Britain and Scholastic in the U.S.

"I do have closure with Harry," Rowling told reporters at the launch of the Pottermore website (www.pottermore.com).

"I have no plans to write another novel. I'm pretty sure I'm done on the novel front ... But it was fun while it lasted."

Such is the scale of Rowling's fan base and the success of her novels that any indication of a new novel would be major news in the publishing and cinema world. REUTERS

This is my story

I used to be more active. I used to run, play basketball, tennis, football… I was more than a weekend warrior. I woke up every day filled with life! But now, in my late 30's, I spend most of my day in the office or sacked out in front of the TV. I rarely get to the gym – not that I don't like working out, it's the nagging pain in my knees and ankles. Low energy and laziness has got me down. My energy has fizzled and I'm embarrassed to admit that I've grown a spare tire (I'm sure it's hurting my love life). Nowadays I rarely walk. For some reason it's just harder now. Gravity has done a job on me.

The longer he talked, the more sense it made. He was even wearing a pair himself!

Excitement swept through my body like a drug

I received my package from GravityDefyer.com and rushed to tear it open like a kid at Christmas. Inside I found the most amazing shoes I had ever seen – different than most running shoes. Sturdy construction. Cool colors. Nice lines… I was holding a miracle of technology. This was the real thing.

Republicans walk out of budget talks

Hopes for budget-cut deal dashed as top GOPers set up talks between Obama, Boehner If default occurs, would be bad news for global economy

Republicans walked out of budget talks on Thursday, setting up a showdown between President Barack Obama and House Speaker John Boehner over how to extend U.S. borrowing and avoid a looming debt default.

Vice President Joe Biden and a handful of lawmakers had hoped to reach a budget-cutting deal that would allow Congress to sign off on continued borrowing. But Republicans quit unexpectedly after saying the group had reached an impasse over tax increases sought by Democrats.

"It appears that Cantor has obviously had enough of these negotiations and Kyl followed suit, but there has been progress made. It's not as if nothing has happened."
SEN. HARRY REID

"I believe it is time for the president to speak clearly and resolve the tax issue," said House Majority Leader Eric Cantor, who had represented House Republicans in the talks. Republican Sen. Jon Kyl also pulled out.

Cantor and other negotiators had hoped to reach a budget deal by next week that would give lawmakers political cover to raise the $14.3 trillion debt ceiling before Aug. 2, when the Treasury Department has said it will run out of money to pay the country's bills.

Default could occur if Congress does not act by then, pushing the United States back into recession and sending markets plunging around the globe.

Obama will now probably have to hammer out a deal with Boehner, the top Republican in Washington, and Senate Democratic Leader Harry Reid — the same trio that took the government to the brink of a shutdown in an earlier budget battle this spring.

"I think it's in the hands of the speaker and the president — and sadly, probably me," Reid said at a news conference. No initial meeting has been set, he said. REUTERS

Maid looks for other DSK vics

The woman who accused Dominique Strauss-Kahn of attempted rape and sexual assault in New York hired a Paris lawyer to look for women in France who may have been victimized by the former International Monetary Fund chief.

Kenneth P. Thompson, a former federal prosecutor who is representing the accuser in New York, hired Thibault de Montbrial to provide legal support, the French lawyer said today.

"I am working with him, I am the contact for his firm in France, notably to see if there exist other victims of Mr. Strauss-Kahn," de Montbrial said in a telephone interview. REUTERS

WEEKEND

And you said

Fifty random peeps can be wrong

We asked you what you thought the "song of the summer" was. Overwhelmingly you chose Adele's "Rolling in the Deep." But we'd be remiss if we didn't correct you here. People who are calling "Rolling in the Deep" the "song of the summer" are mistaken: What they don't understand is that "Rolling in the Deep" is the song of the year!

HOTTEST SONGS OF SUMMER

Here's what you'll hear at the beach, on the road trip and at the barbecues for the next few months

There are no awards for the "song of summer," just the honor of worming your tune into the collective consciousness during the most nostalgic season. To achieve the "song of summer" status requires more than the hallmarks of a hit during any other time. It helps to have at least two of the following: a laid-back vibe, a seize-the-night message, whistling, funny lyrics and a booze and/or pop culture reference. You also need a quotable line for various summer situations. When you get to the keg party and it's all dudes, the chorus of "Where Them Girls At" is a good start.

PAT HEALY
pat.healy@metro.us

"The Lazy Song" by Bruno Mars
The formula is Jason Mraz plus Sublime, but it's hard to dock Bruno points for borrowing since this song is about being lazy. The beat just begs for a traffic jam where you can roll down the window and thump your hand on the outside of the car door. Anyone within earshot will whistle along.

"I Wanna Go" by Britney Spears
Britney has always been great at looking at what other people are doing and saying, "Hey, that looks cool. Let me try!" and totally kicking ass at it. Here she runs away with the catchy whistling and the "I wanna go all the way-ay-ay/Takin' out my freak tonight" party message.

"Wetsuit" by the Vaccines
The Vaccines are like a cooler Coldplay. With its repeated incantation of "we all got old at breakneck speed," this song was tailor-made for a yearbook quote.

"The Edge of Glory" by Lady Gaga
Like a great summer night, this song is all about living in the moment. There's no whistling, but the line "Another shot before we kiss the other side," can function as a requisite booze reference, and the solo by the late, great Clarence Clemons is just begging for thumb-to-mouth air sax.

"Super Bass" by Nicki Minaj/ "Where Them Girls At" by David Guetta featuring Flo Rida and Nicki Minaj
There's something so likable about Minaj. Singing or rapping, she is dirty and funny, and in these two jams, she effortlessly references Led Zep, Slick Rick and Peabo Bryson (!). The line you'll sing: "Tell him who the eff I is."

"Give Me Everything" by Pitbull (with Ne-Yo, Afrojack and Nayer)
Employing the same seize-the-night ethos that make the Gaga and Britney songs work, Pitbull raps that he's "got it locked up like Lindsay Lohan." We also like his plan of, "I might drink a little more than I should." Ne-Yo delivers the catchy chorus.

"Pricetag" by Jessie J (with B.o.B.)
Jessie J just wants to make the world dance. Singing in a sexy Brit plea against a chill "Ooh Child" groove, J calls for a pre-MTV world. "We need to take it back in time/ When music made us all unite/And it wasn't low blows and video hos."

"Last Friday Night (T.G.I.F)" by Katy Perry
"Pictures of last night ended up online, I'm screwed ... a blacked out blur, but I'm pretty sure it ruled." That's a good summary of this hilarious hangover ditty.

Nobody's perfect. Not even Tip O'Neill. But "According to Tip," the one-man play that charts his journey from local politician to Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives, feels more like the beginning of a canonization process than the fascinating tale it really was.

When the play premiered at the New Repertory Theatre in 2008, Tony Award-winning actor Ken Howard so completely embodied the booming, charismatic speaker you never noticed what a partisan love letter to O'Neill it actually is.

In its current production at the Lyric Stage (though not a Lyric production), playwright and political commentator Dick Flavin dons a fat suit and a wig with much less spectacular results. He's not an actor, he's a writer with tremendous admiration for O'Neill.

"Tip" is not without interesting stories, however, and it's nice to be reminded of a time when Democrats and Republicans co-existed without ferocious disdain. As is, "According to Tip" feels like a class where the teacher dresses up and delivers a pleasant, but rather one-sided tale of a man who made it to the top by embodying his belief that "all politics is local." 'Bad Teacher' scores high marks

Though it could stand to be a little more risque, this comedy succeeds thanks to a solid supporting cast

Having seen the red band trailer for Bad Teacher, we went in expecting a vulgar, funny swearfest along the same lines as "The Hangover." Instead, we got a funny, only somewhat vulgar movie that could have benefitted from a bit more raunch. It seems a bit afraid to go all the way.

Diaz's character, Elizabeth — desperate, pretty on the outside but ugly underneath — is an odd character to hang a comedy on, but she pulls it off. She'll never be the funny, fresh face she was in "There's Something About Mary" and "The Mask," and for this movie that's a good thing. The very slight patina of age and experience in her manner adds some extra desperation to Elizabeth. Having said that, this movie wouldn't work nearly as well without the supporting cast of Jason Segel, John Michael Higgins, Phyllis Smith from "The Office" and Molly Shannon. They don't exactly rescue this movie — it doesn't need rescuing — but without them "Bad Teacher" wouldn't be nearly as much fun.

The plot

Getting an education

In the new Cameron Diaz movie, "Bad Teacher," she plays — you guessed it — a bad teacher! More concerned with hooking up with a wealthy co-worker (played by her real-life ex, Justin Timberlake) than with her students, she doesn't make much of an effort to actually educate until she learns there's a cash bonus for the teacher with the highest classroom gradepoint average.

Lords of the breakdance

Boston B-boy crew celebrates 30th anniversary
Leader Lino Delgado credits their longevity with a passion for the form

As one of Boston's original B-boy crews, the Floorlords have been thrilling audiences with their gravity-flouting moves since 1981. On the eve of their 30th anniversary show at the Institute of Contemporary Art, we caught up with group leader Lino Delgado for a history lesson.

Initially exposed to breaking by cousins from the Bronx, Delgado and his friends began dancing at T stops for money after seeing another crew make $50 in 10 minutes.

Quoted

"Other crews say, 'You guys are old school,' but to me, we just carry the tradition of the dance form."
DELGADO

"At the time we were like 13, 14 years old," he says. "And we were like, 'Woah!'"

The freshness of their moves sold itself: "We started booking shows from the street," Delgado says, "And we just kept going."

By the mid '80s, the Floorlords were opening for big-name rap acts like Run DMC. As breaking began to fall out of favor, then-leader Cisco wisely convinced the crew to diversify: "We started mixing [breaking] with hip-hop dance, house dance, we had to pick up every form of dance that came out to get more shows," Delgado explains.

▶ Floorlords are at the ICA on Saturday.

Still, breaking remained the Floorlords' passion, and after Cisco's departure in the mid '90s, they decided to get back to basics: "I was like, 'You know what? We don't need to do this no more — [breaking] is what we love doing."

Through their classes, stage shows and continued participation in B-boy battles, the Floorlords proudly remain guardians of old school: "Other crews say, 'You guys are old school,'" Delgado says, "but to me, we just carry the tradition of the dance form."

Breaking in

The Floordlords are always accepting students, and the best among them are invited to join the crew. Delgado welcomes this consistent influx of fresh blood:

▶ Asked how a student comes to join the crew, Delgado identifies a shift from imitation to origination: "When they start getting more creative and start building their own style, that's when we start saying, 'Look, you want to be part of the group?'"

These 'Cars' don't have enough drive

DISNEY/PIXAR
▶ Grem (voice by Joe Mantegna) and Acer (voice by Peter Jacobson) star in "Cars 2."

'Cars 2'
Directors: John Lasseter, Brad Lewis
Cast: Larry the Cable Guy, Owen Wilson, Michael Caine
Rating: G Grade: ●●○○○

After Pixar's ambitious work on titles like "Ratatouille" and "Wall-E," this is a disappointment. The first "Cars" was arguably the weakest Pixar outing, but it at least had moments of pathos and the mature storytelling that the company is known for. "Cars 2" shoves Lightning McQueen to the sidelines of his own franchise in favor of an ill-conceived James Bond homage starring the comic relief character Mater. The material might have worked as a direct-to-DVD sequel exclusively for children, but as a big screen outing, it's a letdown.

The animation is stunning and there are a handful of funny sequences, but it's impossible not to compare it to other Pixar projects. Pixar set the bar high for animated fare, and at this point simple family escapism like "Cars 2" isn't quite enough.

THE WORD

Metro's Dorothy Robinson shares her take on the world of gossip @dorothyatmetro dorothy.robinson@metro.us

▶ On Fridays, Dorothy will post the best tweets she received during the week. You can always let her know what you think — good or bad — at @dorothyatmetro.

This week, the ladies (and one man) wrote in, cracking me up with their various pick-up lines for the newly single George Clooney, and @Shinji_Bourne made an excellent point about Christina Aguilera being the highest paid judge on "The Voice."

▶ @sarrible I met George Clooney once. Think we hit it off. In fact, I'm expecting him to call me, except he only has my old #. Dammit!

▶ @SilentButHeard I'd wear my glasses and say "you look like just as hot George Clooney, did you know that?"

▶ Stacey (via email): Let's be honest. I need to kick start my acting career. I will sign any agreement in exchange for 3 months with you and an engagement ring (which I get after we "break up"). Deal???

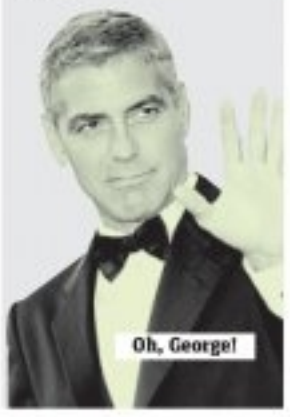
▶ @heidiwmetcalfe oh #clooney, let's motorboat! and by that i mean, take you for a ride on my boat, in lake como. I WILL TWEET U A PIC OF MY TWO BIG BOATS.

▶ @Shinji_Bourne I'm no fan of "The Voice" or Christina but don't you think for once we should be praising a woman earning more than a man?



Oh, George!

The wedding will be televised

Kim Kardashian is said to be close to finalizing a deal that would put her wedding to Kris Humphries on TV with E!. "It will be a two-hour standalone special," a source told PopEater. "[Kim] is so used to having cameras follow her that she doesn't even notice them anymore. Kim really wants her fans to celebrate with her on the most important day of her life."

Khloe Kardashian and Lamar Odom's wedding was a ratings hit, with 3.2 million viewers tuning in.

In other televised weddings, Nick Lachey and Vanessa Minnillo announced their upcoming summer nuptials will be televised in a special on TLC (because it worked out so well for him the first time he tried that on "Newlyweds"). And as we previously mentioned, Hugh Hefner's planned TV wedding special will still air on Lifetime in July, but revamped so it will have a "runaway bride" theme.

So here we have Hefner publicizing his failed attempt at wedding No. 3 to a woman sixty years younger than he is and two celebs (one of whom got famous for making a sex tape) trying to make a buck from their second marriages by planning huge, wasteful, over-the-top nuptials.

And here people complain about gay people trying to ruin the "sanctity" of marriage ...

▶ Actress Lindsay Lohan attended a probation hearing at Airport Branch Courthouse Thursday in Los Angeles.

Here we go again

Lindsay Lohan headed back to court sooner than expected after she reportedly tested positive for alcohol, violating her probation, according to Radar Online. Lohan has been under house arrest at her Venice Beach condo. "Lindsay tested positive for alcohol. The judge in her DUI case, Judge Elden Fox, said she couldn't consume any alcohol while on probation. The probation department has prepared a report," a source says, adding that the L.A. Probation Department was expected to request that the judge take Lohan off of house arrest and place her in jail.

Le sigh. Has any economist looked into the theory that California is bankrupt because of all of the resources used to try to keep Lindsay Lohan in check?

Talking points

A Spidey seduction

Emma Stone and Andrew Garfield reportedly had so much fun filming "The Amazing Spider-Man" that they've continued their friendship even after production wrapped up — and have become more than friends, according to Us Weekly. "They got close during filming and have been hooking up," a source says. "They haven't gone public, but he's told his friends."

Monteith's troubled past

"Glee" actor Cory Monteith had such a bad drug problem as a teenager that his mother sent him to rehab at 19. Per a recent interview in Parade magazine, the 29-year-old admitted to skipping school to get drunk and smoke pot. "I burned a lot of bridges. I was out of control," Monteith told the magazine. At 19, his mother and friends sent him to rehab, although it didn't stick. "I stole a significant amount of money from a family member," Monteith recounted about what finally made him change. "I knew I was going to get caught, but I was so desperate."

▶ Osbourne

Sharon Osbourne says she wouldn't have reacted as calmly as Maria Shriver did to news that her husband, Arnold Schwarzenegger, had an illegitimate child with a housekeeper. "I would have chopped his willy off. Arnie's willy would have been down the disposal unit spinning around, that's where it'd be," Osbourne says, according to Hollyscoop. "I was really, really disappointed at him for being so horribly disrespectful and deceitful to do that in your own home. He can do whatever he wants in hotels on the road, whatever, knock yourself out, but you don't disrespect your family by doing it in your own home. To me it's just unthinkable."

The voice of reason in a fantasy world

Bad things happen to humans on 'True Blood' But Rutina Wesley, who plays Tara, wouldn't have it any other way One script that shocked

▶ Rutina Wesley stars as Tara on "True Blood." Season 4 premieres Sunday at 9 p.m. on HBO.

Alongside all of the sexy, scary supernatural goodness that makes "True Blood" as addictive as V — that's vampire blood, for those of you who haven't been spending the last three summers hanging out in Bon Temps — a couple of regular ol' humans are making a play for the series' best storylines. The frontrunner? Tara Thornton, best friend to vampire bait heroine Sookie Stackhouse, whose tenacity and no-nonsense attitude keep the show rooted in reality.

Tara, played with grit and vulnerability by Rutina Wesley, gets another chance to steal scenes as Season 4 picks up Sunday night. We checked in with the actress to find out what bad — and good! — things are in store.

Tara got mixed up with some bad vampires last season. Are things looking brighter now?

We are finally going to see happiness for Tara. She has started going to the shrink and she has learned how to love herself in a way that is beautiful and secure. It's nice to see because we have seen her suffer so much. She may have a smile on her face.

The writers really put Tara through the wringer. If you could take her out of their hands, what would you have her do?

I kind of like where they have been taking me. A lot of the time, I've been like, "Does she have to suffer so much?" and "Do I really have to cry in every scene?"

Q&A

With all the vampires, werewolves, shape-shifters and fairies, does the show ever get too weird — or is that the fun of it?

▶ Yeah, I think that is the fun of it. I love that we cross the worlds of fantasy and reality. I heard people say, "You guys have this level of humanity that I actually believe that vampires are walking today." So we have to keep it real. Because if we get too kooky, even if the situations are kooky, we can't play it as kooky. But those are challenges, and I just have to cry for 18 hours to go through being violated.

And [then there were] the orgies. That is one script that I got and I'm like, "Wait, wait. Back up." But we did it and we did it as a group and we were all professional, freezing out there together. The director was like, "Hey, we are going to do this. Good luck. Let's have some fun." And we did. We all played together and it was nice.

After "California Gurls" spent six weeks at No. 1 on the Billboard Hot 100, Katy scored two follow-up No. 1s, making her the first female artist in 11 years to score three Billboard No. 1 singles from the same album. And our money is on "T.G.I.F." being a big song too.

'Drug War' not rocket science

Nixon's failed, racist War on Drugs began 40 years ago. Now, one in 100 adults and one in nine young black men are behind bars. Poverty and substance abuse go hand in hand. You can arrest the dealer, but there will still be a demand. Here's how to reduce illegal drug use and violence: legalize and tax drugs, reinvest money from police and prison expansion into supportive community programs and mandate that the minimum wage be raised to a living wage!

TRAVIS REED MILLER, BOSTON

Speak for yourself

RE: FOR ALL THE SINGLE LADIES 6/23: I'm sorry that Jennifer Bellenoit was annoyed at Dr. Alpert's advice (The lowdown on the hookup 6/22). I'm even sorrier if she felt that she was speaking for all single ladies — because Dr. Alpert's advice spoke volumes to me, a woman who is in a "benefits" relationship and is ready to walk away from it. Speaking as a single woman who has a full-time job while in school, my life is never too busy to be in a relationship with someone who respects me enough to not use a lame excuse to have his "cake and eat it too."

TOMAR BENTON, VIA E-MAIL

Don't deal religious digs

RE: FOR ALL THE SINGLE LADIES 6/23: I read with alarm the letter from Jennifer Bellenoit in which she disagrees with Therapist Jonathan Alpert and calls him a "Quaker." Apparently, it's OK to use a religious group and their beliefs as a pejorative term in your newspaper. I'm shocked that you published such a letter. Would you publish one that refers to Wall Street bankers as "Jews"?

MB SIROKY, BOSTON

Metro passes the test

RE: TAKE CONTROL AND TAKE AN HIV TEST 6/22: As a homosexual I have to thank your publication for putting this issue out to the masses. It's something that everyone should take seriously, not just one segment of the population. It wasn't long ago that you could not talk about HIV and AIDS in the mainstream media. I always practice safe sex and go regularly for testing. I was just tested last week in fact, and if I were not terrified of needles I would do it again to show support and raise awareness for the issue.

Horoscope

♋ Cancer June 21-July 22. Sidestep making any binding agreements. There is an excellent chance that tomorrow you will see things from a different perspective.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 22. If you need assistance for completing a job, be careful regarding the help you solicit. You'll get plenty of volunteers, but they might be more interested in showboating.

♍ Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. Inner turmoil is likely to be generated when you find your trust in another has been sadly misplaced. Rely on past experience as your guide.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. Keep a close eye on your resources and how you handle them. Complacency or indifference could carry a high price tag if you're not willing to keep tabs on your spending habits.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 19. You'll do yourself a favor if you can face the fact that not everybody will be in accord with your viewpoints or positions. When you can accept this, you can accept others.

♓ Pisces Feb. 20-March 20. It's nice to think well of people, but be wary of those whom you know from experience have exploited your generosity. People don't change, but you can become wiser.

♈ Aries March 21-April 19. Keep a lid on your intensity and try to operate on a more placid wavelength. Once your forcefulness is set into motion, it could be extremely difficult to control.

♊ Gemini May 21-June 20. Operate as independently from others as you can because your way of doing things and theirs will be diametrically opposed to each other.

In the NBA

Irving goes first

The Cavaliers surprised nobody Thursday, taking Duke's Kyrie Irving No. 1 overall in the NBA draft.

Derrick Williams went second to the Timberwolves.

The oddest of opponents: A .500 Pittsburgh team

After nearly two decades of losing baseball, the Pirates are decent this year ◗ They can thank starters for their 37-37 record ◗ We'd definitely take Kevin Correia over John Lackey

This weekend brings the rarest of series for the Red Sox.

It's not so odd that the AL East leaders are visiting the Pittsburgh Pirates; that's a fact of life in the interleague era.

That they're visiting a .500 Pirates team ... that's another matter entirely.

Pittsburgh has long been the sadsack franchise of the National League.

On the air Friday

Red Sox at Pittsburgh 7:05 p.m., NESN, WEEI

Andrew McCutchen's team-leading HR total for the Pirates. He's also tops on the team in batting average (.289) and runs (44).

The Pirates — who ran their record to 37-37 with Wednesday's win over Baltimore — have posted 18 consecutive losing seasons.

It's a far cry from their run of three consecutive NLCS berths in the early '90s — or, for that matter, their appearance in the very first World Series against the then-Boston Americans.

The Pirates can thank an unexpectedly strong starting staff for their return to semirelevance.

Of their main five starters, only one — James McDonald — has an ERA over 4.00. Jeff Karstens is 4-4 with a 2.54 ERA and a 1.08 WHIP through 16 games (12 starts), and Kevin Correia is near the top of the NL with nine wins. METRO

Going for the Gold (Cup)

THE DEAL:

The U.S. will play its fourth straight Gold Cup final Saturday at the Rose Bowl. It's the third time in a row they've met Mexico. The biennial tournament is the championship of CONCACAF — the soccer federation for North and Central America and the Caribbean.

ANALYSIS:

The Americans and Mexicans have dominated the Gold Cup for decades. Only one of the last 11 finals hasn't featured at least one of them, and they've met in the last two. The U.S. won 2-1 in 2007, but the archrival Mexicans took a measure of revenge in 2009, blowing out the Americans' second team, 5-0. This time around, the U.S. stacks up as the favorite: Coach Bob Bradley is bringing his 'A' team to Pasadena (9 p.m., FOX Soccer, Univision).

Bounceback victory for Williams

Serena Williams cleared another hurdle on her comeback Thursday.

The two-time defending Wimbledon women's singles champ seemed to settle into her old routine in an ultimately comfortable 3-6, 6-2, 6-1 victory over Simona Halep in the second round at the All England Club.

The American seventh seed — just four matches into her return from a 49-week layoff — was initially troubled by the tenacious Romanian teenager before marching on to the third round.

"I feel like I'm in shape," said Williams, who lacerated her foot on broken glass in Munich last year, just weeks after beating Vera Zvonareva in the Wimbledon final.

Federer wins

Men's No. 3 seed Roger Federer easily handled Adrian Mannarino in their second-round matchup Thursday. The Swiss won, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2.

BU hoops picks Jones

Boston University has hired Joe Jones as its men's basketball coach, the school announced Thursday. Jones, who spent 2003-10 as head coach at Columbia, was most recently an assistant at Boston College. He's a native of Long Island. METRO

Bruins to open defense as part of tripleheader

GETTY IMAGES

The Bruins will start their title defense Oct. 6 against the Flyers as part of an opening-night tripleheader, the NHL announced.

Games between Montreal and Toronto and Vancouver and Pittsburgh are also set for Oct. 6.

Boston will play the Canucks just once in 2011-12: Jan. 7 at the Garden. METRO

D-man still looks like a safe bet

Experts are still betting on the Bruins taking a defenseman with the No. 9 pick in the NHL entry draft, which begins Friday in St. Paul, Minn.

Ryan Murphy of the OHL's Kitchener Rangers would fill the void left by Tomas Kaberle's impending free agency. Duncan Siemens, Dougie Hamilton and Nathan Beaulieu are also strong contenders.
